C.R.P. No. 1060 OF 2006

Dated this the 21st day of August, 2007

JUDGMENT

Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, who addressed me very strenuously on all the grounds raised the Revision Petition. I find that the excess compensation which has been awarded by the court below is Rs.8,950/- only and even the interest rate is kept as low as 6%. Having gone through the judgment, I am not able to say that the findings are vitiated and that too by any jurisdictional infirmity. The Civil Revision Petition will stand dismissed. It is made clear that this judgment will not cause any prejudice to any other revision petition filed by the KSEB against the other cases which have been decided under the common order, since I am refusing to interfere with the impugned order mainly because of the smallness of the stakes involved.
